

As a flight attendant for American Airlines, I am completely AGAINST the use of cell phones inflight. There is no hard evidence that cell phones do not interfere with navigational equipment. Also, terrorists on board would be enabled to make last minute changes to plans via cell phone. And, of course, a plane full of passengers on cell phones would compromise safety, not to mention being extremely annoying to fellow passengers and crew.